

A diagram of a door set within a frame. The door is rectangular with a diagonal brace running from the top-left corner to the bottom-right corner. A horizontal handle is attached to the left side of the door. The area outside the door frame is filled with diagonal hatching lines.

